

Connections

After a loved one leaves, your focus may begin to feel heighten on the things immediately surrounding you because it is difficult to engage with the greater world. You may become aware of out of the ordinary 'synchronicities' that can be not only unexplainable, but undeniable. Many believe, and are comforted by, these indicators that their loved one is continuing to interact with them. Have you noticed any of the 'signs' below? Can you think of others (there are many that we hear of) that you have witnessed?

feathers

music

temperature shifts

numbers

car plates

dreams

